

Texas regional championship winning car

Posted by Al Fernandez - 14 Nov 2012 15:03

I'm looking for a good home for a car that's capable of winning in spite of my sorry driving! It helped me win the 2012 Texas Regional Championship, the 2012 Hallett Summer Shootout, and placed 2nd in the 2011 Texas Regional Championship.

Suspension: Early offset AL arms all around, poly bushings, turbo sway bars, 30mm torsion bars, Konis, caster/camber plates.

Drivetrain: Engine, gearbox, gauges, DME and wiring swapped in from 70k mile 924S one year ago. New oil cooler and sandwich plate, water temp gauge, oil pressure gauge installed at the same time. Radiator replaced a few months ago and installed with switch on the dash through a relay. Clutch and timing belt are two seasons old. Power steering (also from 924s) installed with external cooler and non-power rack and all other necessary hardware to convert to true non power included.

Other: Bolt in cage modified with double nascar style door bars, seat and right side net can be included if it'll fit you, belts will be required, seven phone dial wheels and decent RA1s.

Price is completely negotiable, cheaper if you're going to race it here in Texas! lol j/k The car is in Magnolia Texas.
