

New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by cbuzzetti - 29 Aug 2013 15:38

Hey Foxx, Dale, Whitridge, Hicks and Buzzetti.

We have RV spots 25-34. Each RV spot is two numbered spots end to end (25-26)

If we are all in agreement we can make a coral and have a large open space inside of all the trailers and RVs. We did this in 09-10 and it worked great.

Be sure to bring HD extension cords if you have them.

I will get a better look at whe the power poles are tonight to see if this will work.

I will only have an RV in my spot and I know a couple of you will be using your trailer for your RV so we will have tons of room.

Let me know what you think.

Re: New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by JerryW - 29 Aug 2013 16:52

I'm up for a compound like last time. My trailer is my RV

I'm arriving Tue Morning some time

Re: New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by cbuzzetti - 29 Aug 2013 18:29

Sounds good Jerry.

I wont be there until Tuesday night if all goes as planned. I pick up a motorhome in Provo at 5 pm.

My guess is that Ron and Jim Hicks are also using their trailers as an RV.

Hopefully they will chime in here.

Re: New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by hansoncuts - 30 Aug 2013 06:40

I'm in on the rv circle not sure yet what spot I'm in but hope to be able to leave trailer hooked up to work out of

Re: New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by Big Dog - 30 Aug 2013 18:01

All, we will be there Tuesday early. Once the Mothership is parked, she will not move so I need to know where to go. Hansoncuts is west of you, Charlie. There is some other name between him and you. If he is 944, is the intervening guy also 944?

The mothership wants to be parked so that the patio area is on the east side (for shade in the afternoon) so putting her on the west end of the compound would be best. That is what was done the last two Miller Nats.

I can go as far west as everyone wants but not knowing about the intervening guy is a problem for me moving into Hanson's spaces to anchor the west end of the compound.

Let me know what to do, folks.

Big Dog, Lil'Kat, Crew Chief Charlie Pelland, the Piper, and the Mothership (

Re: New 944 RV Compound thread

Posted by hansoncuts - 30 Aug 2013 20:37

Big dog if I'm the furthest west 944 we can swap ill be there mid morn tues
