

Road Atlanta next weekend

Posted by michaelreich - 12 Jun 2011 17:56

I am taking the future Spec 944 car to Road Atlanta. I am doing HPDE a few times this year. I hope to work on the car over winter and have it prepared for 2012 competition school.

I have started the process of taking out a bit of weight here and there, but I want to keep it stock enough to enjoy the rest of this year in HPDE.

I see a handful of 944 cars entered in different classes, but I am curious about what happens if I get the car built and there are no spec 944s?

Do I run with other classes?

Anyone else going to be there? I would love to talk to someone in person.

This is a great forum - everyone seems very helpful - sort of wish I lived further west or north...

Re: Road Atlanta next weekend

Posted by michaelreich - 16 Jul 2011 17:04

My son is running my car in HPDE1. I will look for you.

Re: Road Atlanta next weekend

Posted by michaelreich - 08 Aug 2011 08:11

It was great meeting you (Michael) this weekend. Your car looks good! Another well run event, though a bit hot.

Thanks for your advice.

Re: Road Atlanta next weekend

Posted by JUSTMERACING - 08 Aug 2011 14:43

Nice meeting you and your daughter. What a great weekend. 944's are coming out of the woodwork. Hurry up with that car so I can pass you too. LOL
