

The Southeast vs. Midsouth Barber Race Thread

Even though I will have to be watching this one from the paddock I feel obligated to instigate some side bets on the outcome of the first "Official" NASA Southeast vs Midsouth 944-Spec showdown at Barber in February.

So... how about some ideas? Losers wash the winners cars in the paddock at the next Road Atlanta event? Or buy the beer on Beale Street next time in Memphis?

Let's hear some ideas...

Well, looks like Road Atlanta may be my first foray with y'all now.

My mom has a pretty tough strain of cancer, she had a complete stem cell transfusion and has been locked away for a few weeks. This is the first weekend she is well enough for me to come see her so I'm going to opt for a visit with mom.

Car is ready but so is mom.

See you in March!

Too bad you won't be there, was hoping I could see what that 1:49 looks like. Glad your mom is race ready! Hopefully I'll be able to make the trek to RA in March as well.

I'll see if I can dig up the video of the 49's. With the cold weather and crowded track it will be interesting to see how much clean track you'll get.

Yeah, cancer sucks. But she's starting to have some good days again so I need to take advantage of every minute I can.

RA is my favorite track and my new car should be ready so I'll definitely be there for that one.

We'll a month ago it looked like we would have 6+ on Saturday and 7 on Sunday. I see on registration we are now down to 5.

Do we know if Bryan got his head straight?

Michael was a maybe but looks like he will be there with a borrowed 944.

I am hoping that we are able to get on the road by Thursday afternoon so I do not miss any track time on Friday.

We got 6 inches of ice and snow, but forecast says 65 this weekend. Welcome to the South.

F1 - Moms are always at the top of the list so enjoy your time. Hopefully we will see you at RA.

From what Shawn said Brian got his running but not running well. He is still questionable for the race.

You guys only have 2 now? Who is for sure?
